Disclaimer: Makro uses customer information to personalise its service and make communications more relevant to individual customers via mail, email, telephone, fax or in person. This includes direct marketing activities like promotional offers, news and information about products and services that we think will be of interest to customers. Makro also contacts customers to obtain feedback that will help improve our products and services and for operational reasons.

Our authorised staff and specific third party suppliers serving us in the direct marketing industry have access to the information for the purposes described above. Makro is committed to protecting customer privacy and does not sell or disclose information to anyone other than as outlined above, unless legally obligated to do so. Customers are afforded the opportunity to easily opt out of any specific communication channel should they wish to. Please view our Privacy Policy at www.makro.co.za, call 0860 300 999 or ask at reception at any Makro store.
